

Finances at a glance 1: How much does it cost to study?

The answer to this question primarily depends on whether you live with your parents or manage your own household. And of course, your lifestyle plays a significant role! According to »Studis Online« the range of living expenses currently varies between approximately €783 and €1.896 per month. The following overview shows what students typically spend their money on each month.

If you want to calculate your expenses, you can create a table with all cost categories or use an online tool. Information on different funding sources is available in the FH-Study Guide "Finances at a glance 2: How can i finance my studies?" or on our website www.fh.ms/finanzierung.

Wishing you success in financing your studies!
